Lightning Stroke in Prince George Kills Fifteen-Year-Old Celon Mister.

BROTHER SEVERELY SHOCKED

Legislature Fixed Two of Judge Watson's Courts to Meet the Same Day.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG. VA., June 2.—Celon Mister, fiften years old, was instantly killed by lightning between 8 and 9 o'clock last evening, while he and a seveniteen-year-old brother were putting two horses in stalls on their father's farm, about three miles below Prince George Courthouse. Both horses were killed and the elder boy was severely stunned, but not dangerously injured, by the same bolt. The brothers were sons of Mr. Frank Mister, a well known Bohemian farmer, and had reached the stable from work on another farm just as the fatal storm came up.
